He was met at the depot by a young man who claimed to be an acquaintance, but who, in reality, was the reper in of a swell gambling house, and in short order Perry lost nearly all the money on his person, said to be about $200. He took a few drinks with his friend and knew no more till this morning, when he Evand himself wandering about the streets of Portsmouth. The thieves left him $20 with which to get home. The Felton robbery, in the old Novelty Theatre, was the last big one recorded here, and the victum a lumber dealer from Pratits, Va., was treated in about the same manner as Perry. A well known man from Newport News dropped $195 in a game of set-back to-night. He kicked and was given $25 to keep quiet.

Corrected and official figures received at the Treasury Department show that the net loss of gold on Friday and Saturoay by the Treasury was $1,45,135, as follows: For United States notes, $1,458,531. Treasury notes, $16,555.

The Treasury's stated balance to-day is $10,162,000, or which $61,822,000 is in gold. This statement of the gold does not take in upwards of two millions of gold withdrawn at New York to-day and Saturday last, which will not begin to show in the Treasury books until to-morrow. So far slightly over $2,000,000 in gold has been withdrawn at New York since November 13th, and $100,000 at other points. Otherwise, except for the gold withdrawn to hid for bonds, the Treasury has been gaining gold as it did before, from mintage and in the western sub-treasuries.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19.—At to-day's convention of the Knights of Labor the miners' delegations from Indiana, Onlo, and Pennsylvania were unseated, despite their claim that they represented many thousands of Knights. The miners propose to report back to their organizations, recommending secession. The miners are in the Powderly camp, and Powderly himself proposes to lead a vigorous fight and keep the controlling Knights here much longer than they expected. Some of his friends, familiar with his plans, say that he will fight an injunction restraining the officers from continuing to control the property of the Knights of Labor.

The miners were unseated by a vote of 34 to 27, which shows that Sovereign and Haves will be re-elected. The election will probably take place to-morrow.

The Tariff Debate Likely to be Ravived by Senator Marris_Mr Cleveland and His Message

Wassission, Nev-mber 19, 1894. | Two weeks from to-day, December 3d, House itself has been absolutely bare.

The report of the First Assistant Postmaster-General shows that the presence of the boycott is alive in this branch of the Government. The salary of the postmaster depends largely upon the sale and cancellation of stamps in his office, and in many of the offices over the country regular boycotts have been established against the postmaster. Whether from political or personal reasons does not always develop, but frequently merchants, lawyers and others will buy their stamps from neighboring offices and mail all of their matter upon the mail cars at the depot, thus leaving the postmaster without half of the customary business of his office.
The First Assistant requests Congress to legislate upon the subject.

The report of the Fourth Assistant

Congressman McMillin, of Tennessee, one of the few Democratic members of the committee that gave to the country the famous Wilson bill who escaped the late deluge, has been here for several days. He has little to say of the cames that loosened the fastenings to the "flood-gates," but does not believe that his pet measure, the income tax, was responsible for it. On this point, however, there is a difference of opinion, and several of his colleagues who vated for the measure in the House have been heard to say since the election that they doubted the wisdom of that kind of legislation.

None of the Virginia congressmen, the notice of contest filed by Mr. McCaull, the defeated Republican candidate, but says he can give him all the votes intended for him that were illegally prepared, and on that account rejected by the judges of election, and then beat him by a handsome majority.

Postmaster-General Bissell is still confined to his residence on account of a severe cold. He has been in his office only once since the election, and then only for a few minutes.

EFFURICANS CAN REST AWRITE

There are a great number of presidential post-offices throughout the country still held by Republican postmasters, but Mr. Smith, who is in charge of those matters at the Post-Office Department, said this morning that there would be no removals until after Congress convened, as a commission issued to a postmaster now would mean the issuance of another as soon as he was confirmed by the Senate, and the Postmaster-General does not believe the few days saved to the appointee would compesate the department for the trouble it would give.

Ewort concedes that Marion Butler will get the long term. The ex-Congressman from this district bases his cannidacy upon the following grounds:

Democratic majorities resulting therefrom in each instance; the absolute vindication of his course with reference to the force bill when that measure was pending in Congress, he being an opponent of its adoption. HARFARD'S NEW FULL BACK. The Coachers Have Decided to Use Cabot

The Coachers Have Decided to Use Cabet in | hat Pestion.

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 19,—To-day the Harvard foot-ball team had their last really severe practice before the great game on Saturday. Two hard halves were played. For the rest of the week the work will be chiefly with the idea of keeping the men in trim and smoothing off a few points in the play. Whittemore, who has been playing full back, has been changed over to left half back, where he will be first substitute to Wrightington. The only explanation of this action is that the coachers have finally decided to use young Cabot, the freshman, who was recently taken on the 'varsity squad, as full back.

Cabot is to-day the most talked-about young man at Cambridge. He first attracted attention in the champsonship class game between '56 and '8. His tacking and interference were superb, and his long, low drives against the wind weald have done credit to any 'varsity player. He played at end rush in the same with Brown hast Thursday, but that was only a foxy move to throw Yale men of the track. Full back is his page.

After the general mass for the dead, with its elaborate ceremony, the special service for a dead Czar began with a brief prayer, after which Psalm 5! was sung by an unseen male choir.

Then followed the singing of Psalm 1!9, which was divided into three stations with an anthem after each part. The first anthem was the Gloria Alleinia, the second, "Have Mercy on my Soul," and the third, "Blessed are Thou. O Lord, Teach Thy Judgments." At the end of the second station, before the anthem, the prayer, "God of all spirits and flesh, who has destroyed death, trodden down satan and given hope in Thy word, grant, O Lord, that the soul of Thy servant, our Emperer, rest in happy, pleasant and peaceful places from which grief and signing shall flee away. After another short prayer eight froparions by John, the Monk of Damaseus, were pronounced.

Recitations of the Beatifudes followed, while between the troparions were interspersed prayers for the departed.

After an inscription to the Trinity and the Virgin Mary, the first lesson was read, comprising verses 13 to 13 of the fourth chapter of Thessalonians, followed by the Psalm, "Blessed is the man whom Thou chosest and receivest unto Thee."

Then came the second lesson, verses 24 to 31, inclusive, of the fifth chapter of John, and the prayer, "God of all spirits," was said as the Metropolitan approached the catafalque preparatory to the ceremony of taking a solemn farewell of the dead. This was done by the chief meurners, the Metropolitan meanwhile repeating the following as from the mouth of the dead:
